Your pension plan at 31 July 2024

This year's value	Last year's value
£24,719.74	£13,460.22

Your transfer value was £24,719.74 on 31 July 2024.
Values can go down as well as up and are not guaranteed.

Since your plan started

From your employer, including any salary sacrifice payments, and by the government through tax relief.

Includes investment performance and costs and charges.

Breakdown since last year

Last year's value		£13,460.22
	Money out	Money in
Money you've saved		£0.00
Money added by your employer		£9,102.47
Costs and charges	£93.50
Your investments increased in value		£2,250.55

i See 'Costs and charges' section later in this pack for more information.

We may not include payments made in the last three working days before 31 July 2024.

What you could get at retirement

Your plan could be worth

£360,000

Giving you a yearly income of £23,000

Or a monthly income of

£1,917

This is an example of what you might get if you turned your pension savings into a guaranteed income (annuity) – which would last for the rest of your life.

These figures were calculated on 31 July 2024 using general assumptions. They are in today's prices and are not guaranteed.

The rules we follow to estimate what you could get in retirement changed in October 2023. Find out more about this at standardlife.co.uk/assumptions.

Your retirement date:

25 June 2049,
age 65

This is the retirement date we have for you and the figures shown have been projected to that date.

What your plan could be worth

Based on your average regular payments over the last 12 months, we've used a monthly amount of £758.53. We've assumed:

- payments will rise with salary increases
- your salary will increase 2.5% every year
- there'll be no more payments after 25 June 2049

We've based our figures on your current investments and how we think they're likely to perform. See 'How we think your plan could grow' later in the pack for more details.

What actually happens may be different to what we've assumed.

What we've assumed about your income

- your annuity payments won't increase
- your annuity won't be paid to any dependant on your death
- if you die within the first five years – we'll continue to pay the annuity until the end of the five year period
- you've not taken any tax-free cash

Annuity rates may vary so the actual annuity income could be higher or lower than shown.

There are different options available at retirement and you don't have to buy an annuity.

How to give yourself more money in retirement

Your plan may be worth

Give your pension pot more time to grow – you don't have to take your money on your retirement date. Leave your pension invested with the potential to grow.

Check your other pensions – if you have pension plans elsewhere, you could bring them together and have all your money in one place so it's easy to manage. Keep in mind that transferring may not be right for everyone.

Check how much State Pension you could get at gov.uk/check-state-pension

Use our tools and calculators at standardlife.co.uk/retirement/tools

We've used the same assumptions as above – but assumed that the extra £50 or £100 a month won't increase.

If you pay more into your pension your employer may pay in more too. Contact your employer to find out more about 'contribution matching'.

Any discount you have could also apply to any transferred plans. To find out more about your discount, log in to standardlifepensions.com/kpmg-gfrp

How your plan is invested

This table shows the value of your funds on 31 July 2024, so you can see where your money is invested.

You're invested in a lifestyle profile, which means we'll automatically and gradually move your money into funds that are usually lower risk as you get closer to retirement. So, by the time you reach retirement, your money's invested in a way that supports how you might plan to take your pension savings.

About these figures

We show the charges before any discount to make it easier to compare your funds.

'How your funds have performed' in the table above shows the total amount, as a percentage, that a fund has gained or lost over a particular time period. This data is sourced from Financial Express Limited ©. Financial Express Limited ("FE"). All rights reserved.

Past performance is not a guide for future performance. You'll usually be saving into pension for many years, so be careful not to base all your decisions on performance over the short term.

The value of investments can go down as well as up and you could get back less than was paid in. Charges can vary over time.

Reviewing your investments

It's a good idea to get into the habit of reviewing your choices regularly to make sure they continue to meet your goals and circumstances.

Costs and charges

All pension plans come with costs and charges. It's important to be aware of all the costs and charges that impact your plan.

Over the last year the total impact of costs and charges on your plan was £93.50.

This is made up of:

Fund management charge – the charge we take for managing the funds you're invested in and for the administration of your plan

Additional expenses – costs of holding assets in the funds

Fund transaction costs – costs from trading assets to meet the fund objective

i

Costs and charges can vary over time.

You can get more information online at standardlife.co.uk/charges or speak to your adviser.

Costs and charges - continued

Costs and charges

Fund management charge	£35.11
Additional expenses	£31.99
Fund transaction costs	£26.40
Total	£93.50

You benefit from a discount on your charges and we've allowed for this in the Fund management charge shown above. To find out more about your discount, log in to standardlifepensions.com/kpmg-gfrp

How we think your plan could grow

Here are more details about the figures we gave you in your yearly statement.

What you could get back at retirement

We've based this figure on your current investments, what we think will be paid in and your retirement date.

We've assumed:

- your investments will grow at 3.0% each year - this growth rate has already been reduced by 2.5% to allow for the effect of inflation
- future charges and discounts won't change

The actual investment performance and charges may differ from these assumptions.

The value of investments can go down as well as up and may be worth less than was paid in.

What happens to your pension plan if you die

We'll use it to provide benefits for your beneficiaries - a lump sum, pension or combination of both.

Ensuring you get value for money

Standard Life has an Independent Governance Committee (IGC) which acts solely in your interests. The IGC aims to ensure workplace personal pension schemes deliver value for money for members. The IGC will raise any concerns it might have with Standard Life on any aspect of what Standard Life is delivering for you.

Its work includes reviewing administration charges and transaction costs applied to the funds in which your money is invested. The outcome of the review is included in the IGC's annual report.

You will find information on the range of costs and charges applied to all the funds that you can invest in by visiting standardlife.co.uk/igc-cost-and-charges. This also gives example illustrations to show the effect charges may have on your pension over time. You will also find more information about the IGC and its annual report.

To compare these costs and charges against those that you are paying we recommend that you log into your online services.

The IGC represents you and is keen to hear what value for money means to you or about any concerns you may have with your Standard Life pension. Please get in touch by emailing IGC@thephoenixgroup.com.

Limits and allowances

The annual allowance and lifetime allowance limit the amount you can pay in or take from your pension plans without incurring a tax charge. You can get more information and check the current limits by reading the 'Information about tax relief, limits and your pension' guide online at standardlife.co.uk/taxandpensions.

Normal Minimum Pension Age increase

From 6th April 2028 the Normal Minimum Pension Age (NMPA) will increase from 55 to 57.

This is the earliest age that you can normally access your pension savings and is set by the government. It may be possible to take money earlier than the NMPA from your pension under certain circumstances, for example if you are suffering from ill health or have a protected pension age.

Normal minimum pension age increase

Market ups and downs, the cost of living and your pension

With unpredictable markets and a rising cost of living, you might be wondering how this could affect your pension. We're here to support you with any questions you have.

If my pension value has dropped, should I be worried?

- Pensions are long-term investments and are likely to experience ups and downs
- Historically, we've seen that despite periods of unpredictable and sharp movements, over the longer term (usually more than 10 years) markets have risen in value
- If you're thinking of retiring in less than 10 years, take a look at the information we've included on where to get help to make an informed decision

Can I delay accessing my pension savings?

- Yes, you can. You'll need to let us know your new retirement date
- You can do this through our online services or call us on the number provided on your statement
- Keep in mind, if you're invested in a lifestyle profile, updating your retirement date could change the way you're invested as these gradually move into lower risk funds as you move towards retirement

Remember, the value of investments can go down as well as up and may be worth less than was paid in. Past performance is not a guide to future performance.

Where can I get help to make an informed decision?

- Have a look at our tools and guides online to help you work out how much money you might need and some tips to help you get there at standardlife.co.uk/retirement
- It could also be worth getting some guidance or professional financial advice before you make any decisions
- Any decisions you make could have an impact on how much you'll have in the future
- If you're aged 50 or over and thinking about accessing your pension, you can get free, impartial guidance with
